

What is claimed is:

1. An integrated circuit comprising:
 - first conductive lines on a first level;
 - second conductive lines on a second level; and
- 5 at least one of the first or second conductive lines comprises a non-rectangular shaped cross-section